

Dear Agent,

David Johnson and his younger sister, Eva, face a daily fight for survival against the acid rain, toxic soil, and poverty of post-Destruction Earth until an accident hurls them into the Second Federation of Worlds, an advanced fourteen-race domain in another galaxy where humans are one of only two non-local races.

Healthy and free for the first time in his life, David begins training to become a Fleet officer in hopes of finding his way back to Earth to save his family and neighbors. Meanwhile, the Second Federation faces an existential conflict with the expansionist Dimenoans. Classmates and superiors see David as a refugee, gifted pilot, and damaged man.

They also see him as the possible key to a prophecy that offers all Sentients a lifeline through a long-lost wormhole. David prepares for the task ahead while grappling with his trauma, identity, and the question of whether he was rescued ... or chosen.

The Wanderer is a 76,000-word debut science-fiction novel that blends the stakes of Dune with the character arcs of Red Rising and the worldbuilding of Leviathan Wakes. It launches the completed five-book Biography of an Earther series but can be read on its own. The remaining four installments evolve from a personal coming-of-age story to a saga that culminates in galactic war and explores themes of generational trauma, cultural survival, and redemption. I'm currently developing three other trilogies in the same universe based on key characters from David's story.

Early readers say, "I am not normally caught within the first few chapters, thirsting for more. Great job!" and "I could visualize each place, smell and feel them as if thrown into the world itself."

I'm a technical writer with 30 years of experience, a licensed pilot, and a lifelong science fiction aficionado. The full manuscript is available upon request. The Biography of an Earther and its sequels are built for episodic or cinematic adaptation. Learn more and see concept art at <https://www.eartherverse.com/>. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Warm regards,
